CITY OF CLARKSBURG

Updates from City Manager, Tiffany Fell

Setting and Accomplishing Personal Goals for the New Year:

As we enter a new year, it is a natural time for reflection, renewal, and setting intentions for the months ahead. While goal setting is often discussed in the context of government operations and organizational planning, it is equally important to recognize the value of residents setting their own personal, family, and community goals.

A strong city is built not only on effective municipal services, but on engaged residents who are invested in their own progress and the collective well being of their neighborhoods. Starting the year on the right foot is a shared responsibility, and individual goals play a meaningful role in shaping the future of our community.

When residents take time to establish goals for the new year, they create a sense of purpose and direction in their daily lives.

Whether those goals relate to health, education, finances, civic involvement, or personal growth, they help individuals focus their time and energy on what matters most. Communities thrive when residents are motivated, forward looking, and committed to improvement.

Personal goals often lead to positive habits, stronger families, and increased participation in community life, all of which contribute to a higher quality of life citywide.

Resident goal setting also strengthens neighborhood stability and pride. When individuals set goals related to maintaining their homes, supporting local businesses, or volunteering their time, the benefits extend beyond the household.
