CITY OF CLARKSBURG

Updates from City Manager, Tiffany Fell

Preparing For Cold Temperatures:

As extreme cold temperatures move into our area, I want to encourage all residents to take precautions now to stay safe and prevent avoidable damage.

These conditions can create dangerous travel, increase the risk of frozen pipes, and pose serious health risks—especially for seniors, children, and anyone without reliable heat. Please limit time outdoors, dress in warm layers, and check on neighbors, friends, and family members who may need assistance.

Residents should also prepare for possible power outages by having flashlights, batteries, blankets, bottled water, and essential medications on hand. If you use space heaters or alternate heat sources, please do so safely—keep heaters away from anything flammable and make sure smoke and carbon monoxide detectors are working properly.

To help prevent frozen pipes, keep your home heated consistently, open cabinet doors under sinks, and allow faucets to drip slightly during the coldest hours.

If you must travel, use extra caution on icy roads, slow down, and avoid unnecessary trips when conditions worsen, especially at night and early morning.

City crews will continue monitoring weather conditions and responding as needed to maintain essential services. We appreciate everyone doing their part to stay prepared, stay informed, and stay safe during this period of extreme cold.
